

Elevating Technology to Strategic Advantage

A Foundation for Confident, Technology-Driven Choices

Adfinis Consulting

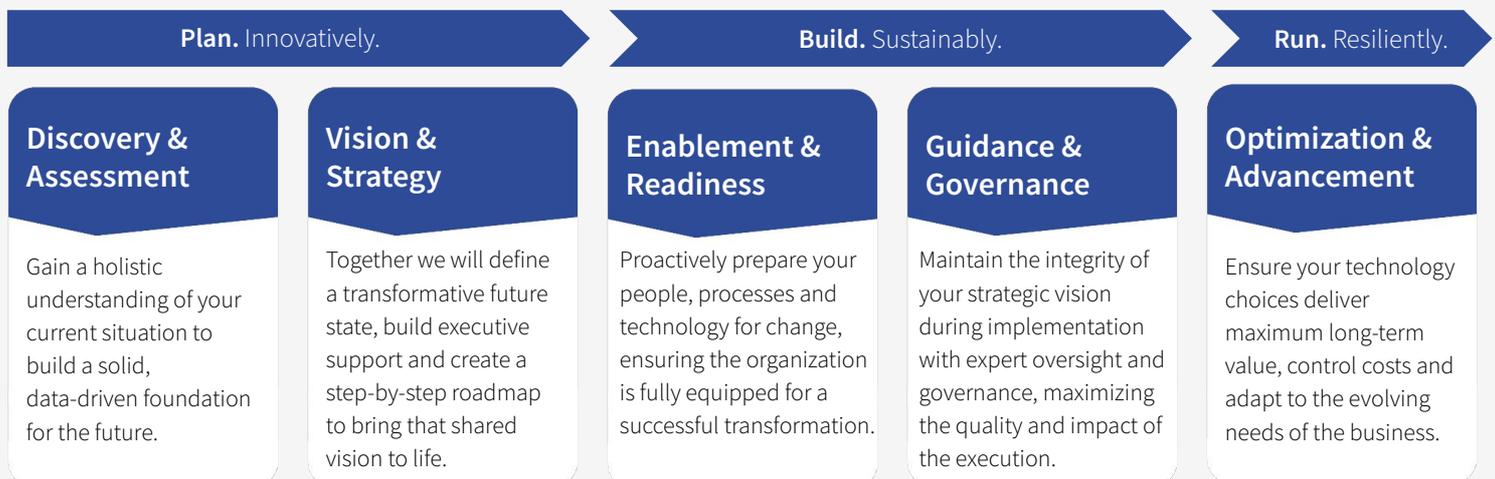

We guide clients from strategy to execution, developing comprehensive IT roadmaps while preparing their organizations and infrastructure for a successful implementation. Through thorough assessments and impact analysis, we ensure your organization is fully equipped for technological advancements.

How Adfinis Can Help

- » Holistic, not siloed: We don't just look at your tech stack. We analyze your entire operating model - people, process, and technology - to ensure our recommendations are practical, sustainable and drive real business outcomes.
- » Consensus-driven: Our methodology, featuring organizational and technical assessments and stakeholder alignment, is designed to build consensus across your organization, turning a technology strategy into a shared corporate mission.
- » Empowering confident choices: We provide the clarity and 360-degree view you need to make difficult decisions with confidence, knowing they are based on a solid, holistic foundation.
- » Flexible & transparent engagement: Our modular framework puts you in control. You invest only in the specific outcomes you need, when you need them, with clear deliverables and transparent pricing.

Our Consulting Approach

We structure our partnership across five distinct phases, from understanding your status quo to ensuring your choices deliver lasting value. You can begin at any phase, selecting the self-contained packages that address your most critical needs.

Consulting Services We Offer

Choosing Adfinis provides access to an integrated approach that ensures strategy is technically robust and technology adoption is strategically relevant, leading to clear, actionable solutions for challenges at the intersection of business and technology.

IT Strategy Assessment

Based on given challenges from your organization or market impact, we offer consulting to help you to streamline and optimize costs (e.g. infrastructure), time to market (e.g. software development), transparency (e.g. multi-project management) and collaboration (e.g. roles & responsibilities).

Decision-Making Framework

We offer a framework for technology-driven decisions, enabling better business outcomes through tailored, implementable solutions. The framework offers a comprehensive approach for understanding the current landscape, analyzing options and potential solutions as well as facilitating strategic choices.

Organizational & Technical Assessments

Given our unique mix of technical experts and business consultants, we offer organizational and technical assessments. You can freely choose the scope from our modularized offer, covering all topics of technology, processes and people.

DevSecOps / Security and Compliance

Adfinis supports your DevOps teams and provides the tools to efficiently manage all areas of DevSecOps. We will analyze the full potential of your setup and how it can assist you in enhancing your security as well as achieving a faster go-to-market with your projects.

Platform Management & Tool Consolidation

Platform Management is a holistic approach for the efficient engineering and operation of your IT systems. We drive standardization, higher security and governance, better collaboration and communication within your organization and all involved parties.

Operating Model Evaluation and Advancement

We help you to analyze the current operating model, align business and IT regarding their vision and roadmap and define the target operating model. Based on our broad experience, we also help to realize the adoption of the new model, ensuring a smooth transition.

Platform, Service and Application Introduction & Integration

When introducing a new platform, service, or application our consulting services help you align requirements with all stakeholders. We actively analyze and advance your processes, track adoption across all user groups and ensure the planned business value becomes a reality.

Framework Introduction & Integration

Adfinis is a trusted partner for open-source solutions, experienced with a broad range of frameworks in use. We offer the introduction of DevSecOps, Cloud Native, Agile Software Development and further best practices tailored to your needs.

